KEY DATES

No races on the schedule

Hello out there in Lompoc Valley Distance Club Land

Well, another racing season for the LVDC has come and gone. On September 16, Kathi Froemming and Neil Smoots put on a great Park-to-Park with 18-year-old Jeff Monteleone leading his coach, Peter Anderson, to the finish line. Then, Saturday, September 22, saw the 31st Annual Valley of the Flowers Half-Marathon, this being the first of those being held at La Purisima Mission. Race director Betty Lee, with plenty of timely help from husband Jesse and mom Goodie, did an awesome job.

It was a super half-marathon win for recent UCSB grad Bee-Hoo Kim, with Wanda Toro, who just moved here from Kansas City, taking the women's 13.1-miler. The event winners were overshadowed, however, by the collapse of Tym Stark near the finish. Stark, 51, of Santa Maria and an employee at Vandenberg Air Force Base, evidently suffered an arrhythmia. He's now been in Santa Barbara's Cottage Hospital for a couple weeks and is making progress. The Stark family website - <http://stark-family.com> - showed Tym sitting up and smiling a few days ago. I've posted a little letter to Tym, inviting him to our next event at the Mission, the Ray Gil 5K/10K in May. We're hoping for the best here, and there is, in Tym's smiling face, something to hold onto.

On the collegiate cross country scene, LVDC Trettin Run champ Michael Coe and LVDC Parade Route run champ Colin Hacker (both Anderson protégées) finished well up in the huge pack at the Stanford Invitational on Sep 29. Coe, running for the University of California, was 12th, while Hacker, competing for UC Irvine, finished 48th.

More on our college flashes later. In the meantime, have a fun Halloween and send one up for Tym Stark.

Yours in the spirit of good fun in the great outdoors

VALLEY OF THE FLOWERS 31st ANNUAL HALF-MARATHON. What a day for a race! Perfect running weather, perfect scenery, tough course, and great running company! The first runner, Bee-Hoo Kim, finished in 1:18:32, and the first female runner, Wanda Toro, finished in 1:35:17. Thank you to everyone for being patient with the new venue and date change of this year's event. We are very excited to keep the run at the Mission and will most likely stay with September for the time. This day is a day most of us will remember for a long time due to the fact that we had a runner, Tym Stark, go down a half mile from the finish line. For all of you wondering how Tym is doing, the family has set up a website, <http://stark-family.com/>; take a minute to go to the website, it will inspire you to run every time you get the chance. A special thank you to our 31st Annual Half-Marathon Heroes: John Steffens, Brian Capps, Steven McCort, and Eric Voyles, who were first on scene to administer CPR to Tym; these 4 men saved his life, and Christine Nelson, who dialed 911 and rushed to the finish line to make everyone aware of what was going on. You are all AWESOME. Thank you for your continued support of the run, we will keep this run going to give everyone something to look forward to and enjoy. All the proceeds go to support scholarships for four local graduating seniors.

Betty Lee, Race Director

VALLEY OF THE FLOWERS HALF-MARATHON. Well, the 2007 half-marathon has been run and the results are posted on our web page and on active.com. Betty Lee and her crew put on a great event. From what I heard the runners say, everyone liked the new course. Betty had enough aid stations on the course and she also had to have more course monitors for this course. And the course monitors did their jobs well since I didn't hear that anyone got lost. The Mission is a great place to run and the Mission staff was great to work with. But it is dark at 6:00 in the morning when we started setting up the registration table. Another good thing about the Mission was that we didn't have trouble getting runners vouched through the gate like we did at Vandenberg AFB. We are looking for someone to take on the job of publicity person for next year's half. We can handle many more runners and with more publicity we can draw more local and out-of-the-area runners to an outstanding half-marathon. Al and Betty have already talked about Tym Stark. Visit his web site if you can, his family writes daily updates and it is encouraging for us to follow Tym's recovery.
